resources

SIL International has invested heavily in creating technology to advance language-based development efforts. This page contains links to numerous websites that host various software programs, open-source development repositories, and methodologies that enable people of under-resourced languages to achieve their goals.

Directory of SIL's Language Technology Websites